

POIR Research Report
January 2021 – June 2024

Compiled by
Francesco Stolfi

As the Discipline of Politics and International Relations (POIR) prepares to join the new School of International Studies, this report takes stock of our research activities for the very successful three and half years of our time in the Macquarie School of Social Sciences.

Collectively, between January 2021 and June 2024 we have published more than 40 refereed journal articles (close to 80% of which in SCImago Q1 journals), 3 books (L. Cox, K. Gleeson and S.Y. Kim) and 17 book chapters.

Reflecting the multidisciplinary tradition of POIR, we have published not only in the core areas of political science, international relations, public policy and public administration, but also, inter alia, in cultural studies, geography, history and religious studies.

Over the period covered by the report, POIR has applied for four category 1 and three category 2 grants. It has been awarded more than 1.5 million in grant money, including an ARC Discovery Project (J. Bayeh). Going well beyond the social sciences, F. Stolfi and J. Symons have been awarded research grants for consilient industry-facing projects which have led to several academic and industry publications.

Furthermore, over the period covered by this report POIR has consistently advanced research integration. Colleagues have edited journals and sat on the editorial boards of several journals and book series, and edited 7 books, special issues and journal symposia.

POIR has also put significant effort in training the next generations of scholars, with 11 Ph.D. projects supervised (8 completed).

Colleagues have taken significant roles in scholarly and civil society associations. Among others, S.Y. Kim was elected Treasurer and Executive Committee Member of the Korean Studies Association of Australasia and Director on the Executive Board of the Australian Political Studies Association (APSA); U. Ozguc is the Co-founder and Co-convenor of the Australian Critical Border Studies Network and was the Women's Caucus Representative (Co-Chair) in the APSA Executive Committee; J. Symons was Council Member of the Australian Institute of International Affairs (NSW Division) and Advisory Board Member of Replanet NGO.

The rest of the report first lists the books, journal articles, edited books, special issues and journal symposia and book chapters by year and author. The journals, special issues and symposia come with indicators of disciplinary standing. While such indicators are not objective measures of scholarly quality, they may serve the reader in pointing to the disciplines in which POIR staff have made the most research effort. Specifically, the following indicators are reported, if available:

- The latest (2022) APSA journal ranking
- The most current SCImago journal rank (SJR) and quartile in the SCImago disciplinary distribution of journals.

The report concludes with the external research grants awarded and the PhD projects for which staff have been the principal supervisors.

Table 1 at the end of the report summarizes its content.
